PREPARED TO MEET THEM.

Amongst the charges preferred by the opposition in Ontario against Mr. MOWAT'S Government is the exclusion of Bible teachings from the common schools. Defending the policy of the government on the subject the Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education, in an address delivered last week in Toronto, said that the opposition were complaining because the Liberal party of Ontario regarded their Roman Catholic fellow citizens in the same sense as they regarded citizens of other denominations. Because they were exercising their right as a government in amending and improving the Separate School act in the interest of education the opposition was attacking them. No one would say that that the amendments that had been made to that act had never been made in the interests of education. The government had thought it well to place in the hands of the half-million of school children in this province such bible selections for religious instructions as would make them better children. Was it not well to learn the ten commandments? If the Conservatives could learn the ten commandments, including the one,—Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor—and live up to it, it would be well for them. If the editor of the Mail had studied that commandment it would have been well for him. These selections had been prepared by some of the most profound theologians, by some of the most religious men in Ontario. They were: Ven Archdeacon BODDY, Rev. PROVOST BODY, Rev. JOHN BURTON, B.D., Rev. Dr. DEWART, Rev. Dr. LAING, Rev. H. D. POWIS, and Rev. Dr. SUTHERLAND. They had asked the government to be allowed to prepare these selections for use in the public schools. These gentlemen prepared the selections and the government had placed them in the public schools in order that their children might have such religious instruction as was most conducive to making them good citizens. What was the result? He found that before the adoption of these Scriptural selections, and when the Bible was supposed to be used in the Public Schools, that the Bible was read in 55 per cent. of the Public Schools in Ontario. Now he found that the Scriptural selections were read in 98 per cent. of the Public Schools of Ontario. They were prepared to take issue with the Conservatives on this question, as they were prepared to take issue with them on any every other question. This announcement was received with great cheering by the meeting.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Sir Charles Tupper's Request to the Exhibitors—Satisfaction Expressed by the Principal Senders of Exhibits.

The Department of Agriculture has sent circulars to all the exhibitors, whose goods where exhibited at the late Colonial and Indian Exhibition, requesting them to let a portion or if possible the whole of the exhibits sent remain in London, pending the erection of a permanent exhibition building. Replies have been received by the Department from many of the exhibitors expressing their acquiescence in the proposition. However, should the establishment of a permanent "Colonial and Indian Institution" in London be a failure, the goods of the many exhibitor's will be sent to Adelaide, Australia, for the next year's exhibition, which is to be held, and for which already large preparations are being made. The circular is as follows:

OTTAWA, Oct. 14, 1886.

DEAR SIR,—I send to you this circular letter, in accordance with an understanding with the Minister of Agriculture, to inform you that it has been determined in agreement with a wish of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, to establish an Imperial, Colonial and Indian Institution in London for the permanent exhibition of the products of the Colonies and India as a memorial of the Jubilee of the reign of Her Majesty the Queen. The Government of Canada has agreed to ask Parliament to appropriate a sum of £20,000 sterling for this object; and also to give all the exhibits belonging to the Government at South Kensington. The Provincial Governments of Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island have also agreed to give the exhibits belonging to them; and I have no doubt that the Governments of the Provinces of Manitoba and British Columbia will be willing to do the same. It is intended that the permanent exhibition shall have the same commercial features as the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, in such a way as to afford information which may lead to business transaction; and, as the permanent Exhibition, in the same way as the Colonial and Indian, will undoubtedly be visited by persons in all parts of the globe having commercial interests in the exhibits, and the information afforded in connection with them, it is believed that such an exhibition will be an important means of extending trade in Canadian products, natural, manufactured and artistic. I hope, therefore that you will kindly aid this undertaking by giving or allowing to remain, either the whole or a portion of your exhibits, as may be required, to make this exhibition of the products of agriculture, horticulture, the dairy, arts, industries and educational appliances of Canada, as comprehensive as possible. The question of replacing exhibits, for the reason of progress, as of invention, or for other reasons, may be left to be subsequently dealt with.

I shall be greatly obliged if you will send a prompt reply, addressed to me, either directly to the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, South Kensington, London, Eng., or through the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa.

CHARLES TUPPER,
Executive Commissioner.

The Extradition Treaty has been definitely settled upon the exact terms drafted by Minister Phelps and Lord Rosebery.

ROYALTY.

Interesting Gossip Concerning the Royal Family and its Relatives.

Mr. Labouchere, M. P., in London Truth last week says: The formal announcement of the betrothal of Princess Victoria, of Teck, to Lord Weymouth, son of the Marquis of Bath, is likely to be postponed for some weeks as the Thynnes have been thrown into mourning by the sudden death of Capt. Vasey, Lady Bath's brother. The party at Longleat, which I announced last week, has been put off, and of course the intended ball will not take place. The Queen and the Duchess of Cambridge were in conference for half an hour on Friday, and the Duke and Duchess of Teck and Princess Victoria are to go to Windsor this week. The Duchess of Cambridge, who has always been very generous to her family, announced long ago her intention of giving her granddaughter an adequate dowry. I hear that $100,000 is the sum named, besides a trousseau and jewels. Princess Victoria of Teck is not of blood royal in the technical sense, her father having been the issue of a morganatic marriage between the Duke Alexander of Wurtemburg (a second cousin of the King) and the Countess Claudine de Rhedey. She is in a similar position to the Battenbergs and Gleichens, and the newly born son of Princess Beatrice is in the same category, and so would be the children of Princess Frederica or of Princess Louise.

The betrothal of Prince Henry of Prussia, the younger son of the Crown Prince, with the Duchess Elizabeth of Mecklenburgh-Schwerin has been for some time expected at Berlin. It is a marriage gotten up by the Emperor in conjunction with his sister, the Dowager Grand Duchess of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, who is the grandmother of the bride. The preliminaries were settled during the recent visit of the Crown Prince of Germany to Weimar, where he met the whole of the Mecklenburgh-Schwerin family. The Queen has commissioned Groll, the well-known historical painter at Vienna, to paint her a life-sized portrait of Prince Alexander of Battenberg, and he goes to Darmstadt in a few days for the purpose.

The Queen's annual sale of fat stock bred on her Windsor farms is fixed for Wednesday, the 8th of December, and will be held at Prince Consort's home farm. The catalogue comprises 500 sheep, 50 bullocks and 100 pigs. A number of bullocks and pigs from the Duke of Connaught's farm at Bagshot will also be sold.

DOMINION DOINGS.

The Latest Canadian News by Mail and Telegraph.

A man named Shelburg, while walking along the road near Simcoe, Ont., was attacked by four men, one of whom, supposed to be named McLafferty, shot him. His recovery is doubtful. Shelburg had been courting McLafferty's sister, which was believed to be distasteful to the brother.

The Dominion Government has renewed the contract with the British American Note Company for the production of its paper currency, such as notes, revenue and postage stamps. The postal cards will be of a new design.

The Protestant Association, of Montreal, has unanimously agreed upon the Apostles' Creed as the doctrinal basis of their association.

The Liberals of Centre Wellington have nominated Andrew Semple for the Commons, and Col. Clarke for the Local. The Conservatives of East York have nominated John White for the Commons and W Hudson for the Local. The Conservatives of Addington have nominated John S. Miller for the Local.

At the Toronto Conservative Convention, a letter was read from Hon. Alex. Morris stating that his physicians would not allow him to enter political areas at the present time, and a resolution was passed thanking him for his past services as member for East Toronto.

BADLY WANTED.

Eastern exchanges announce that the Canadian Pacific is actively engaged in constructing its telegraph lines to all important uncovered points in the Dominion. It has within the past month extended its system to Quebec in the east, and to London, Guelph, Brantford, Paris, St. Thomas, Kingston and other leading points in Ontario. Its line to Sarnia, Ontario, was completed to-day, and offices have been opened at Sarnia, Petrolia, Wyoming, Watford and Strathroy. The company's transcontinental line has been working with scarcely a single interruption between this city and New Westminster and Victoria, B. C., since it was opened for business, while other transcontinental lines have been suffering serious interruptions owing to the blizzards and snowstorms that have recently been prevailing in the United States. The company expresses itself as being very well satisfied with the amount of business they are securing, and the public on the other hand speak well of the excellent service that is being given.

So far as this province is concerned—especially the press, which has to depend on the W. U. system for its dispatches—a change cannot take place any too soon for us.

TRICKY SMUGGLERS.

From Ottawa comes the report that an officer of the Canadian Customs who has just returned to that city from this province, reports that it is impossible to estimate the quantity of opium that is daily being smuggled into the United States from that province. He says that a large quantity of crude opium is imported by the Chinese into British Columbia, upon which they only pay 20 per cent. ad valorem duty. This is then manufactured up into a merchantable article and smuggled over into Washington Territory, when the duty is $9 per pound. There are several Chinese firms in Victoria who have made large fortunes in this way. They once in a while get caught and then change their mode of defrauding the United States customs. One method is to cut a large hole in a stick of timber, fill it up with manufactured opium, plug it up and tow it near the United States shore, just across Puget Sound, where it is picked up by some of their partners working at that end of the line.

DEATH PENALTY FOR RAPE.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 29.—Nine (9) youths have been sentenced to death here for committing an outrage on a 16 year old servant girl.

The reported loss of the French transport steamer Chandernagor is contradicted.

HUDSON BAY COMPANY.

Sir Donald A. Smith States that the Canadian Pacific Company are not Hostile to the Scheme.

The Montreal Star says: Sir Donald Smith is reported as saying that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company are not at all opposed to the construction of the Hudson Bay Railway and would rejoice to see the Hudson Bay route a success. Assurances have been given in writing to Mr. Hugh Sutherland, of the Hudson Bay Railway Company, that the Canadian Pacific will not offer factious opposition to the enterprise. This is a sensible stand for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to take. Anything that tends to develop the Northwest and hasten its settlement by a large population must give increased traffic to the Canadian Pacific which will always be the great trunk line, and whether the Hudson Bay route is successful or not, the Hudson Bay Railway is likely to be a feeder to the Canadian Pacific during many moths of the year. The Grand Trunk Railway gained nothing by its opposition to the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian Pacific would gain as little by opposing the Hudson Bay Railway. The mistake the Northwestern people commonly make is in supposing that lack of faith in the practicability of the route is synonymous with opposition to it. The majority of the people in Eastern Canada have not much faith in the practicability of the Hudson Bay route, but very few Canadians will be sorry to see the Northwest obtain a new outlet which will give the people there a considerable advantage over their rivals in the Western States. While the Hudson Bay Railway may never pay as part of a route to Europe it is certain to open up to settlement a valuable section of country. Of course it is questionable whether it would not pay better to wait until the more southern sections of the Canadian Northwest are settled before trying to colonize the far North, but the people of the Northwest will never be satisfied until they get their railway to the bay and test the route for themselves, and it would be a great mistake for the people of Eastern Canada or any Canadian railway company to try to thwart them in an enterprise upon which they have set their hearts.

QUEBEC'S CRISIS.

Decisive Action to be Taken by the Opposition -- Usurpation of Constitutional Rights by a Minority.

A Quebec dispatch announces that it looks as if some decisive step were about to be taken by the Opposition, to formally call the Lieut.-Governor's attention to the fact that the Ross Government are in a minority since the general elections, and that their continuance in office under the circumstances constitutes a usurpation. The chief Liberal organ here, L'Electeur, speaking, it is believed, with the authority of the Opposition leader, declares to-night that there must be an end to this usurpation; that the Government have had every chance to prove the truth of their assertion to the Lieut.-Governor that they have a majority; that their efforts to obtain one by attempting to corrupt or intimidate the National Conservatives, and even Liberals, have utterly failed, and that the time has now come for the majority of the people's representatives to assert their rights in the public interest and to signify to the Lieut.-Governor by an authentic and unequivocal public document, over their own signatures, their want of confidence in his present advisers. It is believed that this utterance foreshadows the early presentation to the Lieut.-Governor of the round robin actually in Mr. Mercier's possession.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

The conservatives of Hamilton have selected John Burns a moulder to contest the city for the Local Legislature, against Col. Gibson, the late member, who is a Liberal.

A dispatch from Shelburne, Nova Scotia, says the Tories of that county have thrown overboard Mr. Crowell, the candidate nominated by them for the House of Commons some weeks ago and went to nominate General Laurie because the general has "boodle." The dispatch adds that Mr. Crowell's friends are very indignant at the treatment he has received at the hands of his whilom admirers. The general has no more chance of success against Mr. Robertson than King Theebaw against the English nation.

The Quebec government have issued the writs for the electors of Iberville and Montcalm counties to fill the vacancy caused in the former by the death of Mr. Demers, M. P. P., and in the latter constituency by the resignation of Mr. Richard, M. P. P., in favor of Attorney-General Taillon. The nomination will take place on Saturday, December 4th, and voting on Saturday, December 11th. Iberville elected a Liberal and Montcalm a Conservative. Both constituencies will be hotly contested.

ANOTHER PROFITABLE INDUSTRY.

"The Pacific province," says the Montreal Star, "is now turning its attention to the hop growing for the eastern markets and a few days ago the first shipment of hops was made to the east. Over fourteen thousand pounds were consigned to a Montreal firm. The British Columbia papers give a very unsatisfactory piece of intelligence, however, when it is stated that the consignment was despatched via the Northern Pacific Railway, a more favorable rate being made by that company than with the Canadian Pacific Railway. This, if reliable, is not as it should be." Nevertheless it is quite true.

THE ATLANTIC WINTER TERMINUS.

General Manager Van Horne, of the Canadian Pacific, says he has concluded arrangements with the Boston & Lowell Railway, to reach Boston, which will be made the principal winter terminus of his road. Papers will be signed early next week. Connection from Montreal will be made with Newport, Vt., over the Southampton road, thence to Woodsville, N. H., over the Lowell road.

The continuation of the three line dispatch in yesterday's TIMES from Chicago relating to Miner T. Ames is to the effect that the millionaire was robbed by Theodore S. Mize, his confidential clerk, to the extent of $100,000 extending over a term of years.

The steamer Westerland, which arrived yesterday in New York encountered severe weather on the Atlantic; four of her seamen were killed and two passengers seriously injured.

"UPPER" SOCIETY.

The Divorce Case of Campbell v. Campbell Drags its Weary Length—Resulting Revelations.

LONDON, Dec. 2.—In the Campbell divorce case to-day the defence first called Mark Bouvere as a witness. He testified that he saw the Duke of Marlborough and Lady Colin Campbell in August, 1882, at the Purfleet hotel. He could not swear that the lady was Lady Campbell, but he believed at the time she was. Callingham, a waiter in the Purfleet hotel, testified he waited in a private room upon a lady and gentleman who stayed together in the house from Saturday until Monday. This witness identified the Duke of Marlborough and Lady Campbell in the court as the couple he waited on on the occasion referred to. Delaroche, who was Lord Campbell's indoor servant in 1882, testified that he used to announce visitors to Lady Campbell when she was in his Lordship's apartment. Lady Colin told witness once on no account to announce the arrival of Chief Shaw or the Duke of Marlborough in the hearing of Lord Campbell. After these instructions witness made excuses when he went to announce the arrivals of Shaw and Marlborough, such as saying a cook wanted to see her ladyship and so forth. Witness had shown Marlborough into the drawingroom seven or eight times. Once witness said the Duke was sitting beside Lady Colin on a settee with his arm behind her. Lady Colin arose when she saw witness, and she was flurried and the Duke acted excitedly. Witness once saw Chief Shaw and Lady Colin sitting on the settee. Chief Shaw had his arm behind Lady Colin. After quitting Lady Campbell's service witness was distressed. Lady Colin acted kindly towards him and paid his rent. O'Neil, who was the man servant in the employ of Lord Campbell in 1883, testified that once upon carrying tea to the drawingroom he found the door locked and went away. Returning in a few minutes he found the door open, and saw Marlborough and Lady Colin sitting on a sofa, both the cushions of which were disarranged. Witness saw a note partially written from Lady Colin arranging a meeting at Kilburn, the note beginning with the words "My darling George." The same night Lady Colin let a gentleman into her room when she returned from Leigh Court. She asked witness what the fuss in her house was about, and whether Miss Baer had told Lord Colin anything. He replied that Miss Baer had told the witness her ladyship had passed the night with Marlborough while at Leigh Court. Lady Colin replied that was "a d——lie." Next evening Miss Baer went away. When the witness told Lady Colin what Miss Baer had said, he had not mentioned what he had himself seen when Lord Colin was in Scotland. Lady Colin went from the house on Saturday, Aug. 10th and returned on the Monday following. The Duke of Marlborough and Chief Shaw called each twice a week during the whole period of the witness's employment in the house. At this point the witness testified to an act of infelicity on the part of plaintiff with Chief Shaw. An adjournment was then taken.

It is stated that the trial will last four days more. Marlborough and his secretary have been in attendance throughout the trial. Captain Shaw was present to-day while O'Neill was giving evidence as to how, looking through a keyhole, he saw Shaw and Lady Colin in a compromising position. O'Neill's statement was full and clear, and impressed the court, and Russell's cross-examination failed to shake his testimony. Some society papers lament the effect the evidence will cause on the reputation of the aristocrats among the people.

CASTING A POLICY.

Mr. Meredith and his Lieutenants Hard at Work in Toronto.

TORONTO, Nov. 26.—Messrs. William R. Meredith, of London, John Carnegie, of West Peterboro, and David D. Creighton, of North Grey, have been in the city all the week. They are still at work casting a policy in one of the parlors of the Queen's. Local Conservative magnates have been helping in the political foundry, and ere the leaders quit the scene the policy that is to start Mr. Mowat going, if he goes at all, will be announced. The bolder spirits of the party want to hoist the Protestant and prohibition flag over the camp of the Local Opposition; but Mr. Meredith hesitates, and personally prefers grasping the remnant of the Tory Catholic vote forbidden for stalwart Protestant support by the outspoken hostility to Archbishop Lynch.

MONUMENT UNVEILED.

DUBLIN, Nov. 29.—The monument to the Manchester martyrs was unveiled today at Ennis, 2000 people, including deputation from North Limerick and Galway, being present. The Ennis Board of Guardians preceded by a hearse drawn by four horses and surrounded by mutes. In the line were six bands of music, which played the "Dead March in Saul," and "Adeste Fideles," the latter with muffled trumpets. John O'Leary delivered the funeral oration and unveiled the monument. Messrs. Meany and Clune, of New York, made addresses.

COAL MINE EXPLOSION.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 2.—A Commercial Gazette, Bellaire, Ohio, special says there was a terrible explosion of powder in the store of Robt. Hall, six miles west of here, this afternoon, fatally injuring three and seriously burning four persons. The explosion was caused by some one stepping on a parlor match that was lying on the floor, when a spark ignited the powder in the keg and blew the whole end out of the store. Five men and five boys who were in the store, were prostrated.

ALMOST A BRIDE.

She Was Young, Fair, Fascinating and Captivating—Her Heart Was Easily Won.

Some months ago says the Ottawa Free Press, a young woman came from a neighboring city to visit an old friend in the political capital of Canada. This young woman and her friend here had been school girls together, and had not met or heard anything of each other for nearly ten years. The visitor was a blythe and handsome woman, not quite thirty years of age. Her bright and intelligent face, her grey eyes, tinged with a delicate pink, made an impression upon all with whom she came in contact. She was of medium height and possessed of a well rounded form. This beautiful creature, for beautiful she certainly was, met while here a young man resident in the city and of good family and social standing. There was nothing romantic in their meeting, but with the young man it was a case of love at first sight. He paid his adored one every attention, and seemed to be rewarded by a return of his passion. Gay and charming the young lady led him on, until something like a month ago he proposed, and was accepted; an early marriage was promised, and valuable gifts were given by him, and accepted by her. He acquainted his friends of the fact of his approaching marriage, and by some was cautioned against taking such a step, until he knew more about the family relations of his would be wife. Even with him, a feeling grew that she was a little to free and easy—too dashing. There was an indefinable something about her that he could not understand, and as he attempted to enquire into her antecedents, he was put off with caresses and a change in the subject.

Dame Gossip among his friends was rife, some said the pretty stranger had some secret which she would not unfold and curiosity was bound to fathom her history if possible. Among the presents which he gave her were a valuable diamond ring and a gold watch, the two valued at something over $400. How much further he might have gone in this direction had time permitted, is of course simply a matter of conjecture. Some two weeks ago the young lady said she must return home to make arrangements for her marriage and departed on the next train. After she left inquiries were sent forward by one of her young man's friends, and in due time an answer came back, which contained the startling announcement that the person enquired about was the wife of a well known merchant, who had evidently been playing fast with her younger admirer. The blow was a thunderbolt to the young man, and as soon as he had sufficiently collected himself, he wrote asking for a return of his presents, and threatening her with exposure if they did not turn up. So far they have put in no appearance, and in the meantime the matter rests in statu quo. It is unnecessary to add that the marriage which was billed for Christmas will not come off as arranged.

POLICE COURT.

Fanny Eastman, charged with being a vagrant, one month at hard labor.

Charles Reid, charged with being drunk; fined $5 or one week.

Harry Smith, charged with being on the premises of the Angel Hotel for an unlawful purpose; remanded until to-morrow.

John McDonald alias Etheridge, smuggling; adjourned for one week.

Jennie Davis, keeping a house of ill-fame. Officers Lindsay and Sheppard testified to the defendant being the keeper of a house, and also to its general character. Mr. J. P. Walls held that no case had been made out, as no direct evidence had been offered, and asked for a discharge. The court said a decision would be given on Tuesday.

The charges against Fay Williams, Edith Haynes and Bertha Baker, all of a similar nature, were also remanded until Tuesday next.

GABRIOLA REEF.

The schooner Mary Parker, Capt. J. P. Adams, arrived at Port Townsend on Thursday morning from Texada with half a load of iron ore for Ironsides, having had a narrow escape from destruction. On her way over she ran on Gabriola reef in a fog, and half the deck load had to be thrown overboard to lighten her. She will probably be beached for inspection after unloading.

Mr. Benton has stated that he has no doubt that the summons of the Dominion let campaign compelled Lord Rosebery to appeal to the government, which—and yielded to their subpoena.

A LAME EXCUSE.

Now that the paternity of the expression "Sea of Mountains" has been traced to the Colonist, by the quotation given in yesterday's TIMES, from the Toronto Mail, that reliable (?) sheet in this morning's issue endeavors to creep into its hole and throws the onus on the Hon. JOSEPH TRUTCH, for having coined the now somewhat notorious phrase. The Colonist tacitly admits that it used the expression many years prior to its having fallen from Mr. BLAKE's lips. In its explanation it claims that "when fighting the "battle of the routes," which raged so fiercely for several years, may have applied the expression to a particular "route," but it never described the "country" as a "sea of mountains." The Mail quoted from Mr. ANGLIN's speech of 1871, and that gentleman quoted from the Colonist of a prior date. This was many years previous to Mr. BLAKE playing with the expression. Of course it was perfectly legitimate and fair game for the Colonist to coin and use the opprobrious phrase; equally correct was it for Principal GRANT, in his "Ocean to Ocean" to use it; quite proper was it for the then government of Canada to circulate the work containing this slur on our province broad-cast throughout the globe, but the moment Mr. BLAKE quotes it he commits a heinous crime, and draws on his head the condemnation of the very journal and men who had taken a hand in the concoctment of a few words of which it is now evident they are ashamed. Those who have read the letters of Principal GRANT and Mr. BLAKE will be amused at the Colonist's assertion that the Kingston divine gave the Liberal leader a "dressing down." Then it coolly "requests that the hon. gentleman "will do us the justice of quoting "correctly." Mr. BLAKE never mentioned that journal in connection with the subject. Why then make such a nonsensical request of him? In the session of 1883, when the so-called Settlement bill was going through the House, it is true that he referred to a map of British Columbia that had been issued under the direction of a government official, which confirmed all that he had heard and read of this province. Thus it has been proved beyond controversy that the Colonist and its coterie were the authors of an expression that has been circulated very freely, and used in a political discussion on the floor of parliament. It first saw day light, it is stated, in the columns of our contemporary, who is now evidently ashamed of its handiwork and disclaims any connection with the bantling. But its paternity is fixed, and out of it the Colonist cannot wriggle in any way.

POULTRY FARMING.

The products of the poultry yard in all farming countries are of much greater value and importance than is generally believed. There are few indeed to whom it will not be something of a revelation to be told that the poultry and egg product of the United States in 1883 exceeded the wheat product by $72,000,000 and the cotton product by $150,000,000. Yet such are the facts as published. The figures representing the value of poultry and eggs, wheat and cotton respectively for the year named are as follows:

Poultry and eggs	$360,000,000
Wheat	288,000,000
Cotton	419,000,000

This prominence of the poultry yard as a producing factor is the more remarkable, as poultry raising is usually considered as one of the small things in farm matters. There is an unfailing and ever increasing demand for eggs and poultry, which is suggestive of more attention than this branch of production has hitherto received. The English import of eggs increased from six millions of dollars in 1871 to fourteen and a half millions in 1885. A large part of the supply came from the United States and Canada, and the Canadian part might easily and profitably be increased. These facts are worthy the attention of British Columbia poultry farmers. The country, in consequence of the mildness of its climate, should prove to be an excellent field for poultry farming. The demand is an unlimited permanent one, while the supply is not likely to overstock the market for many years to come. We would like to know what pays better than eggs at 75c. per dozen, or seven bits for a pair of spring chickens! In poultry propagation there is a bonanza; the hens know this and regulate their crop accordingly. Naughty hen!

CHECKMATED.

There cannot longer be the least doubt but that the Czar lost the first trick in the desperate game he was playing for the possession of Bulgaria. Diplomatists, as well as the press, admit that "the conspiracy hatched by ZANKOFF and fostered by KAULBARS has miserably failed, and the collapse is hailed with satisfaction by every European power except Russia and France. The fact attests a notable advance in the power and rectitude of public opinion since the last century, when Europe approved or overlooked the Muscovite intrigue which brought about the infamous partition to Poland. It seems plain that the Russian autocrat was egregiously deceived with regard to the character and feelings of the Bulgarian people. He has taken for granted that they are the same spirit-broken race which they were commonly supposed to be ten years ago, before their deliverance from their Turkish taskmasters. He assumed that their raw soldiers would cringe and knuckle to the Russian officers who had formerly commanded them, and that the civilian officeholders could be brought up like sheep. These opinions he would naturally think confirmed by the facility with which the plot to kidnap Prince ALEXANDER was carried out. The subsequent re-action against the abductors was apparently regarded by the Czar as a merely casual and transient demonstration, due to blunders on the part of his Bulgarian partisans, and remediable by more dexterous management. Gen. KAULBARS, accordingly, was sent to Sofia; was lavishly supplied with money, and was backed by the despatch of Russian war ships to Varna and Bourgas. These presumptions were not altogether unreasonable on the part of one who is permitted to hear nothing unwelcome. They were, however, overborne by several facts whose existence or significance was hidden from the Czar. In the first place, as the issue of the war with Servia demonstrated, the discipline and spirit of the Bulgarian army had been improved rather than relaxed by the substitution of native for Russian officers. Again, so many posts of influence were acquired by men who had been educated by American teachers in Roberts College on the Bosporus, that the whole civic administration and the legislature had become leavened with ideas of independence and national self-respect. Finally, Prince ALEXANDER, whatever may have been his weaknesses, had by his gallant conduct in the contest against Servia come to personify Bulgarian rehabilitation, and, therefore, the Czar's harsh treatment of him inflicted a rude wound upon the nascent dignity of the commonwealth. The neglect to recognize these facts led to a gross miscalculation of Russia's moral authority in Bulgaria, and caused the galling miscarriage of the efforts made by KAULBARS to foment a rebellion against the provisional authorities and effect a second pro-Russian coup d'etat. The frustration of the intrigue is unqualified, and will go far to annihilate conspicuous partisans of the Czar. ZANKOFF and KARAVELOFF, are about to leave the country, and there is now little likelihood that the punishment of men convicted of complicity in recent disturbances will be remitted. For the time, at all events, the patriotic party, at whose head are STAMBULOFF and MUTKUROFF, is in undisputed ascendancy at Sofia and Philippopolis. It will be able, when the Great Sobrauje reconvenes, to select a ruler without provoking any opposition in the assembly or the country, though it will doubtless be controlled in its choice by the counsels of the powers unfriendly to Muscovite designs. In fact that, on the departure of General KAULBARS and the Russian Consuls, Russian subjects in Bulgaria were committed to the protection of the representatives of France is conclusive proof not only of a close understanding with the French Government, but of the Czar's want of faith in BISMARCK's assurances of good will. The knowledge or even the suspicion that, when the pinch came, Germany would lean toward the side of Austria and England ought to dissuade Russia from all thoughts of war. But no one can predict the course of an irresponsible despot, and it must be acknowledged that the latest reports from Moscow and St. Petersburg are "more bellicose than ever."

TORONTO Telegram: The name of Mr. GOLDWIN SMITH is being mentioned in the press in connection with one or two constituencies. Away up in Lisgar a requisition is in circulation asking him to become an independent candidate for the Dominion parliament. No man has done more to make an opening for independence of thought and its free expression in this country than has Mr. GOLDWIN SMITH, and while there are those who do not agree with his views in regard to the Irish and some other questions, no one will say that he lacks the courage of his convictions or that on any question he is any man's man. If a citizen of the standing and ability of Mr. GOLDWIN SMITH is willing to go to parliament it is surely a pity that it should not be as a representative of a city constituency instead of a constituency in the Northwest. No one pretends that Toronto is represented at Ottawa by representative men—men who represent either the brains or the business of the great centre. It would be an agreeable change if Toronto had a member at Ottawa who did not conceive it to be his duty to spend his whole time in looking out for himself.

THE HON. THOS. WHITE has declined the nomination for Marquette. The Minister of the Interior has acted wisely. He already has sustained more defeats than any other public man in Canada. It is generally conceded that ROBERT WATSON will beat any living man in that district, and with "both hands down." Bob is deservedly popular with his constituents.

ALLSOP & MASON,

TRICKS IN BANK NOTES.

TALES TOLD BY AN OLD MAN IN THE TREASURY.

Apparently No Limit to the Clever Tricks of Counterfeiters—Capital Piece of Workmanship—The Experienced Eye of the Clerk.

There is a white-haired, sharp-eyed little man in the treasury, who has been one of the features of the place for years. While not readily accessible to ordinary visitors, he can, on presentation of a letter of introduction, render himself an extremely interesting personage, inasmuch as he is a perfect storehouse of anecdotes, which he relates with all the chirm of an accomplished raconteur. Into this gentleman's hands, speaking metaphorically, I happened to fall, and it required no particular effort to make the official [illegible]. He was inspecting at the moment [illegible] $100 note, and this circumstance gave rise to his first anecdote.

"I tell you," he said, "there is apparently no limit to the clever tricks of counterfeiters. Just look at this note. It doubtless deceived over a hundred people before it came into our hands. I know for a fact that it was accepted as genuine by a bank teller in high standing, and yet the instant a certain young woman in one of our departments let her experienced eye fall upon it, she detected its worthless character. The neat workmanship on this bill reminds me of a case which came to our notice some time ago. A counterfeiter had got up a number of $100 notes on six separate banks. The copy used was on a bank which made its $100 notes in this style. On one end of the paper was an engraving of a ship, the yard-arm of which ran between two delicate flourishes underneath the word "the," which was the first word of the name of the bank of issue; as for instance, The National Bank of the Republic, or the First National bank. The fraud would have been a particularly neat one had the counterfeiter made his notes payable by the same bank from which he obtained his original specimen. Instead of being sufficiently shrewd, however, to avail himself of that precaution, or perhaps through an excess of caution, he made them payable by six other banks. Each of these latter institutions had one distinctive feature on the face of their $100 notes. The yard arm of the vessel, instead of running between the two minute flourishes barely touched the outside of the flourish nearer the top of the note, and approached closer to the word 'the' by the sixteenth of an inch. Of course the counterfeit, which was a capital piece of workmanship with the one exception mentioned, deceived merchants easily, and deceived many tellers as well. The moment the notes passed through the hands of a lynx-eyed young lady at the treasury she discovered their spurious quality in a twinkling."

YOUNG WOMEN'S EYES.

"It must be difficult, then," I remarked, "to hoodwink your clever female clerks! How do they educate their eyes?"

"By constantly running over money. To casually watch these women at work you would probably imagine that their sole aim was simply to count the money as rapidly as possible. Not so. A clerk will take a pile of bills, tightly fastened together by rubber bands, and without so much as loosening the fastenings, she will begin to count at a lightning rate by merely turning over quickly the upper right hand corner of each note. Still, though she had only such a small portion of the note for her guide, she will discover a counterfeit readily. Let me relate a little incident which happened while the Seventh regiment was in the city. Some of the boys, among them a paying teller from a New York bank, paid us a call, looking very elegant in their tasteful uniforms. They were engaged for several moments in watching the clerks count money in the manner described.

"Suddenly one of the young women snapped a note from the package which she was running over. After she had thrown it aside in an apparently careless manner, I picked it up and handed it to the visitors for inspection. It was passed from one to another without eliciting any special comment. Finally it reached the man whom I knew to be a paying teller. He examined it for a moment, and returned it to my possession without a word. I asked him if he had noticed anything peculiar in regard to it. He replied in the negative. And yet it was an ingenious counterfeit, as the experienced eye of the clerk had detected the instant she had turned up a corner of it."

SPLITTING A NOTE IN TWO.

"Is it possible," I asked, "for a note to be so split in two as to show both sides of it intact?"

"Oh, yes; and it is very easily done. You procure a certain kind of gum, and paste the note face downward to a piece of paper. Then you paste another piece of paper over the back of the note. By carefully pulling the two pieces apart the fiber of the note will split, and what looks like a difficult transaction is easily accomplished. Nothing, however, can be gained by the operation. If one half of such a bill were forwarded to us for redemption, we would return to the sender one half of its face value. Sharpers indulge occasionally in a little game which consists of piecing notes. That is, they will make nine notes out of eight, each note being passed once. When you come to measure them you will find that they are precisely one-eighth shorter than they should be. Merchants are readily duped by them, but rarely a bank cashier."

"What is the rule relative to the redemption of mutilated currency?"

"We redeem nothing smaller than one-half of a note, and we pay in proportion to the quantity of the note sent, except where there is only one-tenth missing. In the latter case we pay the full face value. If you were to send us a one dollar note, one-quarter of which had been torn away, we would give you seventy-five cents for it. If within six months, not later, you succeed in recovering the missing part, we would, on its presentation, pay you twenty-five cents more. Suppose you brought us a shred of a note, with the edges singed, and asserted that it was the remnant of a $100 bill which had accidentally been destroyed by fire. We would request you to make an affidavit in support of your story. If you could still further substantiate your statement by the affidavits of several reputable persons who had witnessed the destruction of the bill, we would then accept the shred and give you $100. Of course, people frequently try to impose upon us, but they invariably come to grief.—New York Mail and Express.

New Use for "Cut-off" Gloves.

Of course you know "crazy work" is awfully outre. No girl with proper care for her status would make it now; but it has a successor, which to all unprejudiced minds must appear equally absurd, useless and senseless. It is made by cutting regular but varied shapes and sizes from old kid gloves and joining them together with brilliantly colored flosses. You must collect from all your friends their "cast-off" gloves and make haste to fashion something or other out of them before the idea fails into the obscurity it deserves.—New York Graphic.

Preventing the Escape of Criminals.

The difficulty of preventing the escape of criminals has at all times grieved the friends of justice, but the most radical solution of the problem has probably been devised in Gazi, a seaport town claimed by both the Emir of Belang and the Sultan of Zanzibar. According to a correspondent the municipal authorities, who enjoy a local autonomy, have for years saved the expense of burglar-proof jails by hamstringing their malefactors and teaching them to earn a living by some sedentary occupation. Besides being useful, the consequent lameness prevents a relapse, or at least the flight of a suspected backslider.—Exchange.

ANOTHER THROUGH LINE.

The capital stock for the completion of the Sault Ste. Marie extension of the Northern Pacific Railway has been subscribed. The cost of the line is estimated at $8,000,000. A bridge is to be built across the St. Mary's river connecting the Canadian Pacific and the Northern, forming another through transcontinental line. It is now reported that the Ontario Sault Ste. Marie Railway Company seeks legislation to enable them to enter into an arrangement with the United States Railways to work traffic across St. Mary's river to Sault Ste. Marie, and to connect with the American railway system and our lines on either side of the line.

OUR TIMBER TRADE.

The Colonies and India of the Canadian timber trade says that it is growing apace; 102,000 bundles of shingles have been shipped from Puget Sound to Port Moody for shipment across the Canadian Pacific Railway to the east. This is only the beginning of a future great trade between the Pacific and the Atlantic Coasts. Cedar grows there in abundance, and the shingles cut from the lumber are the most substantial in the world, tests having proved that, placed on the tops of buildings, they can withstand the rain and tempests beating down on them for forty years. The shingles will not rot; the action of the weather wears them away, but decay never attacks them. The shingles turned out on this coast are highly spoken of, and the first shipment of them over the Canadian Pacific Railway is the beginning of an immense trade. The forests of cedar in the Atlantic States are well-nigh exhausted, but in British Columbia there are such immense supplies that a century will pass away before all the trees will have fallen under the unerring aim of the axeman.

FROM ALBERNI.

Messrs. E. D. Folwell and Geo. Taylor, of Alberni, arrived in the city last night. They report the settlement as quiet and the settlers as contented and happy. The new wagon road has been completed with the exception of the bridge over Englishman's River, which was burnt down. Another is being built by Mr. John McPherson, the contractor. In all there are three substantial truss bridges on the road. The contractors were John Fraser, who had the Cameron Lake section, and John McPherson. A sawmill is being built by Michael Serranit, which will prove of immense benefit to the community, and by cheapening the price of lumber will make it possible for settlers to build more extensively than they otherwise could. There are now over one hundred actual settlers in the district, and they are all of the right sort, full of pluck and determination.

THE MANLY ART.

The Philadelphia Times publishes an account of a glove fight which it says took place in the parlor of a wealthy gentleman residing on the outskirks of the city, between Frank Burke and Charlie McCarthy, two local light weights. The fight was for $100 a side, the stakes being posted in the hands of two wealthy admirers. Eight rounds were fought on velvet carpet under a brilliant chandelier. Neither of the contestants received severe punishment, but were well winded at the close of the eighth round when the fight was declared a draw. About 30 well-known citizens witnessed the contest. This suggests a plan whereby the Sullivan combination can exhibit without fear of molestation from the police. The Lieut.-Governor can tender the use of Government House, and the "play" might be witnessed by a select company, at say $5 or $10 a head.

WHAT TRUE MERIT WILL DO.

The unprecedented sale of Boschee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cts., large bottles.

THE WEEKLY TIMES

For to-day is for sale at the bookstores and at the office of the publication. As usual it is brimful with interesting foreign, local and miscellaneous news, received by wire and mail from all parts of the world. THE WEEKLY TIMES is universally conceded to be the best newspaper in Canada west of Winnipeg. It contains more reading matter, better selections and general information, as well as variety of news, than any of its rivals. Its circulation is the largest by many hundreds in the province of British Columbia, and still going up. Now is the time to subscribe either for yourself, or for a copy to be sent to your friends at a distance. Only $2 a year, to any part of Canada, the United States, Great Britain or Ireland. The best Christmas box or New Year's gift you can send.

THE REVISING BARRISTERS.

In Ontario, in private session at Toronto last week, adopted the following resolution: That in the organized districts no name not already on the list of a preceding year shall be entered on the new lists to be prepared, which does not appear on the last assessment roll or Ontario voters' list, unless an application is made in writing by the person desiring to be added, or by some one on his behalf disclosing grounds which would prima facie entitle him to be put upon the voters' list, applications to be filed with the revising officer; that the revising officer, in receiving such applications, shall only act upon the same when supported by a statutory declaration made upon the personal knowledge of the applicant or declarant.

A NEW VIEW OF CONSUMPTION.

And One Which Appeals to Common Sense—Many Curable Cases.

[Medical Sifter.]

"Many persons die of consumption who could easily be cured," says Dr. S. C. Clark, of Watertown, N. Y., "if they would go at it right. I have a new view of the disease. Consumption is not always of lung origin."

"How so? What is it then?"

"Many cases of consumption are secondary. The disease itself prevails everywhere, but the best practitioners refuse to attribute it entirely to inheritance or the weather. If a person lives in the most favorable climate in the world and has any tendency to lung weakness, if certain conditions exist in the system, that climate, however favorable, will not prevent development of the disease. The disorder in such cases is only a secondary symptom of the lungs of some other ailment, and can never be cured until approached through its source."

"Yes, doctor; but what is the method of approach?"

"If you dip your finger in acid you burn it; do you not?"

"Yes."

"If you wash this burnt finger every second with the acid, what is the result?"

"What, constant inflammation, festering and eventual destruction of the finger."

"Precisely! Now then for my method, which commends itself to the reason and judgment of every skillful practitioner. You know certain acids are developed in the body. Well, if the system is all right these acids are neutralized or utilized and carried out. If the system is run down by excesses, anxiety, continual exposure, or overwork, these acids accumulate in the blood. If there is any natural weakness in the lung, this acid attacks it, having a natural affinity for it, and if the acid is not neutralized or passed out of the system, it burns, ulcerates and finally destroys the lung. Is this clear?"

"Perfectly!" But how do you prevent the accumulation of these acids in the system?"

"Irregularities of the liver and kidneys create this excess of acid and the supply can be cut off only by correcting the wrong action of these organs. The kidneys alone should carry out in quantity, in solution, enough of this acid daily, which, if left in the blood, would kill four men. When the stomach, the liver and the kidneys are all conspiring to increase the acid, the wonder is that weak lungs resist death as long as they do!"

"But you have not told us how you would treat such cases."

"No, but I will. The lungs are only diseased as an effect of this acid or kidney poison in the blood. After having exhausted all authorized remedies to correct this acid condition, I was compelled, in justice to my patients, to use Warner's safe cure; though a proprietary remedy, it is now recognized, I see, by leading physicians, by Presidents of State Boards of Health and by insurance physicians, as a scientific and the only specific for those great organs in which over 90 per cent. of diseases originate or are sustained."

"Is this form of treatment successful?"

"It is wonderfully so, and for that reason I am only too willing that you should announce it to the world of consumptives."

Note by the Publishers:—We have received the above interview from H. H. Warner & Co., Rochester, N. Y., with the request that we publish it for the good of suffering people. In a foot note to their letter they say:

"The experience of Dr. Clark is not strange to us. In our correspondence we have found that many thousands of people are suffering from what they think is Consumption, whereas the real difficulty is with the liver and kidneys, proven by the fact that when these organs are restored to health by the use of Warner's safe cure, the consumption disappears, and so does uræmic or kidney poisoning, which causes so many symptoms of diseases that the human system is subject to. The same may be said of rheumatism, caused by an acid condition of the system. We insist upon what we always have claimed, if you remove the cause, the system will soon perfect the work already begun. Mrs. Rev. Dr. Theodore Wolf, of Gettysburg, Pa., wife of the editor of the Lutheran Quarterly, said her friends thought her 'far gone with Consumption,' but after a thorough treatment with Warner's safe cure, she said: 'I am perfectly well.' We can cite thousands of such cases, but one is enough. If you publish the above article, kindly send us a marked copy."

We gladly give place to the article, for if we can in any way stay the ravages of Consumption, which carries away so many millions yearly, it is our bounden duty so to do.—PUB.

A THIN DISGUISE.

To the Editor of the Times:

SIR,—There is said to be an eternal fitness in things, and even in Victoria the immutable law is seldom interrupted or checked; but when the man who thanked God that he was not an Englishman obtrusively steps to the front in the matter of our gracious Queen's jubilee, there would seem to me to be something out of joint. The man does not fit the position or the position the man. The hollow hypocrisy that prompts the possessor of so much self-conceit to flaunt his "loyalty" in the face of our people, when his real sentiments are known and contemned by every person intimately acquainted with him, will in the end prove the death—politically, socially and municipally—of the transparent fraud. For goodness sake, Higgins, give us a rest.

ANTI-HUMBUG.

A DOG-GONED ANSWER.

To the Editor of the Times:

SIR,—I do not know what you "meant to say" on the dog-tax question, but what you did say—that the dog-tax law should be strictly enforced—will be endorsed by every person not the owner of a worthless cur. The collection of a tax on dogs, or the destruction of all canines whose owners do not think them worth the amount imposed and neglect to pay, will soon settle the dog question. It is a dog-goned shame that the dog tribe should become a nuisance, for in their place, and in limited numbers, they are a noble and useful animal. CARLO.

A deputation of Bulgarian notables, instructed by the government to visit the different powers and personally place before them the facts of the Bulgarian situation, has started on its tour.
